Your journey, our community

Who I Am

As a student and Communities Assistant at the NASU, I've seen how transformative support and community can be in order to thrive. I'm running for President of Community and Welfare because I want every student to feel this.

Listen First

Through anonymous welfare surveys, a weekly campus question, the Pantry, and outdoor mental health events. I'll introduce signposting for housing, budgeting and low-cost living information, and 'Wellbeing boxes' during deadlines. I will make listening the priority.

Connected Communities

I'll increase cross-society events for students to discover new people, build partnerships with Norwich's independent businesses for meaningful student experiences, and create a student-made map of Norwich's best spots, so the city genuinely starts to feel like home.

Student Volunteering Network

I'll launch a Student Volunteering Network connecting students with local businesses, charities and community organisations for flexible placements that build real skills, experience and connections.

This isn't just a campaign.
It's a commitment to every student here.
